Fund Manager Commentary

NUJOOM Aggressive fund ended the month of December down -2.5% (versus -0.2% MoM Dow Jones Sukuk – SOFR 60-40 TR Index) with the NAV per Share at 109.5. As of December end, 42% of the portfolio was allocated to Sharia compliant Private Debt, followed by 27% in Sukuks, 16% in Private Equity, 4% in Equity and 12% in cash. Our Sukuk portfolio has an average coupon of 7.1% p.a. and a YTM of over 7.5%, with c.71% of this portfolio being investment grade. Our Private Debt investments are in a positive free cash flow Oil and Gas company in the UAE, with an annual coupon of 10%, and a tenure of 4 years. We have deployed 16% in Private Equity in a Pharma company that provides cold storage logistics solutions with a historical revenue CAGR of >60% (with the expectation of 50% CAGR in revenue in the next five years).

December saw most indices fall back after a Trump inspired November rally, but the large cap tech sector outperformed strongly on continued superior growth prospects. The S&P fell 2.5% but the tech heavy Nasdaq world's 0.4% as the Magnificent 7 stocks added more than 6% over the month. The small cap Russel 2000 lost 8.4% as the negative aspects of potential Trump policies such as tariffs came back into focus. Elsewhere Europe dropped 0.5%, Japan rose 3.9% fueled by a 5% drop in the Yen boosting exporter earnings, and Chinese stocks added 4.8% on increasing hope for sizeable stimulus into 2025. The way 2024 unfolded was largely driven by economic resilience. The strength of the U.S. economy played a pivotal role in shaping the dollar, guiding capital flows to the U.S., and providing the Federal Reserve with the confidence to avoid aggressive rate cuts. In short, the rate market, currency market, and even the equity market could continue their resumption higher if economic resilience in the US continues. The Federal Reserve (Fed) delivered another rate cut in December, bringing the target rate range to 4.25% - 4.50%.

DFM continued to be an outperformer in December with +6.2% m/m, followed by +2.2% in Qatar, while Bahrain saw some downward pressure of -2.4%. For FY24, the DFM was the best performing GCC market +33.4%, followed by Kuwait +10.6% and Bahrain +7.8% while Qatar +4.8%, Oman +4.2%, Saudi +1.9%, and ADX +0.3% underperformed the peers.

The market is expecting two rate cuts in 2025. We think inflation in the US is likely to stay stubborn, driven by both policies and expected fiscal spending. Credit has held up well in terms of carry and spreads. Unless there's a recession, default risk should stay low, and spreads can hold steady, making credit a solid choice for income and carry. We're sticking with a neutral duration in this interest rate environment. While we generally favor investment-grade and high-quality issuers, we also like shorter-maturity, high-yielding bonds with stronger cash flow visibility.
